

'A Network of Security' in Europe

II edition Tirana

The National Association of Magistrates (ANM) – Salerno District Section, in collaboration with the Italian Postal Police, the Giffoni Experience Autonomous Body, and the EUVALWEB Legal Observatory at the Department of Legal Sciences of the University of Salerno, have developed the project "A Network of Security in Europe."

The project aims to promote digital education at an international level, grounded in the protection of fundamental rights. It places particular emphasis on raising awareness among younger generations about the criminal risks and legal consequences associated with the improper use of social networks.

At the same time, the initiative seeks to strengthen the exchange of best practices, expertise, and operational skills in the field of criminal justice and judicial cooperation among professionals across Europe.

In its second edition, the project is further strengthened by the support of Epoka University, whose academic contribution enhances the international dimension of the initiative and fosters deeper cooperation between European institutions and the Western Balkans.

Through training activities, institutional dialogue, and international collaboration, "A Network of Security in Europe" aspires to foster a safer and more responsible digital environment, combining technological innovation with the protection of human dignity and the rule of law.
